Commands

help

- > Command Name
  - o help
- > Command Description
  - Displays a list of commands to the user. These commands, when inputted to the Operating System, will execute that specified process.
- > Command Example:

```
> help
help $:Commands:
$:
$:
0) help
$: Displays all available commands to the user.
$:
1) shutdown
$: Prompts the user for the shutdown procedure.
$:
2) version
$: Displays the Windows-9 current version.
$:
3) rtc
$: Displays the realtime clock, and prompts the user for clock changes.
$:
4) timeset
$: Prompts the user to change the time of the real-time clock.
$:
5) dateset
$: Prompts the user to change the date of the real-time clock.
$:
```

shutdown

- > Command Name
  - shutdown
- > Command Description
  - Will prompt the user for shutdown. If the user specifies a 'yes', then the shutdown process starts. If not, shutdown will be aborted.
- > Command Example:

```
> shutdown
shutdown
$:Are you sure you want to shutdown?:
$:    yes
$:    no
>yes
yesklogv: Starting system shutdown procedure...
klogv: Shutdown complete.
```

rtc

- > Command Name
  - o real time clock
- > Command Description
  - Will display the user with the time and date from the internal real time clock, as specified through the timeset and dataset commands.
- > Command Example:

```
> rtc
rtc
$:Real-Time Clock:
$:Current Time: 01:11:03
$:Current Date:02/03/23
>
```

timeset

- > Command Name
  - set time
- > Command Description
  - Will update the real time clock with the specified user input. Has to be inputted in a formatted way (e.g 15 1/2 minutes past 12 noon can be represented as 12:15:30)
- > Command Example:

```
> timeset
timeset
$:Please enter a new time in the following format:
        HH:MM:SS
$:
$:
$:
        e.g [Fifteen and a half minutes past noon = 12:15:30]:
>12:15:30
12:15:30
$:Is this the time you'd like to set?
$: 12:15:30
$:
        yes
$:
        no
>yes
yes
$:Time has been changed to:
$:12:15:30
$:Returning to Menu...:
```

dateset

- > Command Name
  - o set date
- > Command Description
  - Will update the real time clock with the specified user input. Has to be inputted in a formatted way (e.g May 3rd, 2003 can be represented as 05/03/03)
- > Command Example:

```
> dateset
dateset
$:Please enter a new date in the following format:
$:
       MM/DD/YY
$:
       e.g [February 18, 2008 = 02/18/08]:
$:
>02/18/08
02/18/08
$:Is this the date you'd like to set?
$: 02/18/08
$:
       yes
$:
  >yes
yes
$:Date has been changed to:
$:02/18/08
$:Returning to Menu...:
```

version

- > Command Name
  - o version
- > Command Description
  - Will display the current version of the Operating System to the user.
- > Command Example:

```
> version version $:Version:
  == Windows 9 JB Edition ==
Version R1.0
```